

I think you should let the states have their own No Call List and take care of it at the state level. No need for the Federal Gov. to get involved. We have had the No Call List and it seems to be working. Don't make changes to something that is already working. Leave well enough alone.